

DIocese OF HARRISBURG LIST OF CLERGY & SEMINARIANS ACCUSED OF SEXUAL ABUSE OF A CHILD

Updated August 6, 2018

The Diocese of Harrisburg publishes the following list of clergy and seminarians who served in the Diocese and who were accused of sexual abuse of a child since the 1940s. The term “accused” is emphasized to note that the list below includes summations of accusations; the list does not include assessments of credibility or guilt. For more information regarding what is included and what is not included in this list, please see Bishop Ronald W. Gainer’s letter of August 1, 2018. Further, the following list does not contain those cases where the accusation was deemed not substantiated, meaning it was an accusation which, after review by law enforcement or Diocesan reviewers, was not supported by sufficient evidence to establish the probability that the accused cleric or seminarian committed sexual abuse of a child. As used here, the phrase “sexual abuse of a child” means sexual molestation or sexual exploitation of a child (a person under the age of 18) and other behavior by which an adult uses a child as an object of sexual gratification, including attempted behavior.

Of the 72 names listed below, 38 were priests of the Diocese of Harrisburg, 3 were deacons of the Diocese, 6 were seminarians of the Diocese, 9 were clergy of other dioceses, and 16 were from religious communities.

A. CASES WHERE ABUSE WAS FIRST ALLEGED WHILE THE ACCUSED WAS LIVING

This section contains the names of those clergy and seminarians who served in the Diocese and who were alive when the Diocese received the first allegation against them of sexual abuse of a child. Individuals listed in each subcategory may fit into multiple subcategories; however, individuals were placed into the subcategory that most fit the nature of the allegation(s).
